CONTRACT FABRICATIONS

Camtech Environmental Ltd are a specialist manufacturer of bespoke products to individual customer requirement and offer a contract fabrication service for customers wishing to take advantage of the benefits offered by plastics technology, whilst retaining their own company and corporate identity.

The company offers considerable product experience from within the wastewater, petrochemical, civil engineering, chemical, food and marine industries, which, when allied to innovative plastics design and manufacturing technology, provides our customers with a unique and comprehensive product manufacturing service.

All products are manufactured from an elite fabrication grade polypropylene to promote an infinite life expectancy together with complete structural integrity.

Whether the requirement is for a "one-off" or several hundred, Camtech will provide a tailored design and manufacture package to ensure our clients achieve the most cost effective, quality product available, to meet clients' market demands.

For anything from small components to large tanks and process vessels, the flexibility of the manufacturing process allows us to create a complete branded product to customer needs while meeting availability and cost targets.

Camtech is also proud of the customer back up service offered and our strict adherence to client discretion.
